The Didactics of Language and Literature in Plurilingual and Technologised Societies: Learning and Teaching Oral and Written Culture in the Digital Era

The motto chosen for the congress, The didactics of language and literature in plurilingual and technologised societies: learning and teaching oral and written culture in the digital era, responds to the need to reflect on the practices related to the teaching and learning of languages and literature in plurilingual contexts, as well as in other types of contexts in which the digital technology also plays a key role. In this sense, it is crucial to delve into the conceptualisation of such practices and outline new paradigms with the aim to contribute to the development of linguistic, communicative and cultural competences in plurilingual and technologised societies and to educate readers who enjoy reading and writing as part of their daily lives.
